FIRST and FOREMOST... Because it is conceded by all that he is FIRST and FOREMOST, because it is conceded by all that he is a man of integrity and ability and in every way qualified for the office.

SECOND. Because his only opponent has yet two years of an unexpired term to serve in the state senate and his forced resignation might let the Republicans in control of the senate at a time when the state must be re-districted.

THIRD. Because nominees for 4 of the 7 political offices will be chosen from territory South of the Missouri River as all candidates for U. S. Senator, Secretary of State, Attorney General and Treasurer now live in that territory. GOOD POLITICS and FAIR PLAY would accord at least one nominee to Northeast Missouri with its BIG DEMOCRATIC MAJORITIES.

HORSE BADLY CUT BY FALL

Specialist's Prescription Prevents Complications.

In telling of the accident to his horse, Mr. Luther Carmen of Valley Park, Mo., stated: "My horse fell down and cut his knees all up. I dressed them with Dr. LeGear's Antiseptic Healing Powder and they are healing fine. It is a wonderful remedy for healing sores on horses."

Mr. Carmen is simply voicing the sentiments of hundreds of others who feel that having Dr. LeGear's personal prescriptions on hand at all times is nearly as good as having Dr. LeGear where they could reach him in a few minutes.

Wounds and sores must be taken care of immediately. Get a can of Dr. LeGear's Antiseptic Healing Powder from your dealer. Dust on enough of it to cover the wound or sore. It forms a protection against insects and infection and promotes healthy healing.—Dr. L. D. LeGear Med. Co., St. Louis, Mo.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Lexington woman who is having backaches, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Lexington's woman's experience:

Mrs. Foster Eapmon, 1835 O-neida St., says: "About four years ago I had severe pains in my back and if I stooped over I couldn't straighten. My back hurt so at times that I could hardly do my work at all. I was so dizzy and blinded by little specks that came before my eyes that I would have to catch hold of something for support. I was tired all the time and some mornings was so tired and weak I could hardly get out of bed. I became very nervous and depressed, too. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in the paper so I bought a few boxes at Crenshaw & Young's Drug Store and they cured me entirely. Doan's Kidney Pills are one fine remedy."

As has been the way for many years, the August Number of Scribner's Magazine (it began the custom of devoting one of the summer numbers largely to fiction) is this year especially notable for its fiction there being eight short stories in the issue. They are: "Broken Wings," by Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews, a story of the great North woods and the unexpected landing of an airplane, a story marked by a note of deep sentiment, expressing the mood of the times; "The Miracle of St. Nicholas," by Meriel Buchanan, a story of a young Russian soldier; "How I Spent My Vacation," by F. S. Church, known for his charming paintings of animals, a fanciful picture of his experiences on an imaginary game reservation; "Black Magic," by Arthur Tuckerman, a story of a ship and a lion and a little black man from the east coast of Africa; "A Lie and the Litany," by Sarah Atherton (Mrs. Donald Storrs Bridgman) one of her graphic stories of the Pennsylvania mines; "Bally Old Knott," by Maxwell Struthers Burt a story of an Englishman's strategy against a German baron; "Chaff" by Cornelia Geer LeBoutillier, a bit of clever dialogue full of Irish wit; and "Little Archie," a story of the Blue Ridge, by Countess de Chamberlain, an amusing story of a Southern resort and how a clever Frenchwoman was outwitted by an American woman adventurer.
